Drunk in Chinatown

The drinking age in China start⁵⁴ at 18 by law, but there are more and more Chinese children drinking in the young generation. In the US, the drinking age is 21, so when the Chinese student^s goes⁵ abroad to study and they want to drink alcohol, they will ~~have used~~^{use} the fake ID for checking ID program. And they will go to the China town where is no IDs^{CS} are not checked. With the Chinese economic growing, more teenagers drink alcohol.

During the party celebrations, people often drink alcohol and drink, drink a little beer or wine properly to relieve fatigue, increase appetite, and help digestion. Many young people^{become} drunk due to a lack of self-control and Chinese culture, and more and more young people drinking^{results} resolutely in illegal activity, poor physical health, and psychological health.

Drinking results in death, accidents, murder, and suicide. Some studies report that about 27% of adolescents abuse alcohol,^{which means that} alcohol will affect their body health and academic work. it is too easy to get angry, anxiety and depression when people drink alcohol. Alcohol is the most harmful to the central nervous system. alcohol has excitatory and inhibitory effects on the central nervous system. A small amount can be exciting, and^{but} any excess can form an inhibitory effect. If you^{a person} drink too much, you will blush, talk nonsense, standstill, or vomit. Then it^{the person will be} was drowsy, pale, blood pressure dropped, and finally fell into a coma, which could also lead to difficulty breathing, suffocation, and alcoholism. the alcohol will affect the central nervous system. when people drink a few alcohols, they will get dizziness, nausea, vomiting. when people continue to drink, they will get lethargy, coma and if people drink too much, they will die due to respiratory center paralysis. it is very dangerous for the teenager^s to drink much alcohol. ✓

Most Chinese students drink because they have no self-control. The concept of right and wrong of adolescents is not very clear, and the willpower is not strong enough. Most Chinese students come to the United States for the first time in adolescence, so they did not get good self-control. Most of them are followers. In China, they live with their parents, so parents can manage and educate them. They will develop rules for children to bind them. However, when they come to the United States, they will fail to meet the standards of their parents. For example, I get a friend. He was the first person to go abroad, so everything around him was strange. When friends around him went to drink, he would follow them to drink, and even if his parents strictly forbid him to drink, he would still drink with them. They were going to drink with them because they have weak self-control. He was who? Please make this clear.

There more and more Chinese people drink alcohol they may not look at the age which cannot drink, so they will use the fake id for checking. It is a hazardous thing to do. It is illegal things to do. US But they did not realize the seriousness of the matter; they were fearless. I have a classmate who has many fake ids from various states in his car. Every time he drives a car, he will show off. One day, he was galloping on the highway, and the police officer stopped the speed. When he checked the driver's license, he accidentally handed the fake id he had just brought to the police. In the end, he get a few months of Check this sentence court investigations and various legal related expenses. Although it allows me to enter and leave the bar smoothly, if the police discover it, the F-1 visa as an international student will not be guaranteed. What is more, the school will force you to withdraw your studies. so even the student knows the aftereffect of using a fake ID, but they still did that because of fluke mind.it is not an easy problem, it breaks the law. so, people should be severe.

Most students get drunk because they do not have self-control, and they don't have much knowledge about the dangers of drinking alcohol. Parents and schools should start a class which can help students to know the wrong thing for drinking alcohol and have a good connection with their parents to talk about those issues.

Nice revisions.
Make sure you stay in the same verb tense when describing a story or situation.
Also check for small details like capital letters. There are several errors you didn't correct.
Overall, this is an interesting, convincing essay.
